

Jasna Mesarić

QASDG External Expert

Jasna Mesarić, MD PhD, Professor at the University of Zagreb School of Medicine.

She is specialized in transfusion medicine with postgraduate qualification in Hematology, Clinical Pediatrics and Leadership and Management of Health Services. She had a leadership role in launching the WHO PATH (Performance Assessment Tools for Hospitals) program in Croatia and she was the WP2 Leader of PaSQ Joint Action (European Union Network for Patient Safety and Quality of Care, 2012-2016). She is president of the Croatian Society for Quality Improvement in Healthcare, Croatian Medical Association. She was member of the EU Patient Safety and Quality of Care Expert Group. For years, she has been active and involved in a wide range of issues and initiatives associated with the development of national standards, patient safety measurement and quality assessment. She was Managing Director (2013-2014) and Assistant Director (2015-2018) of Agency for Quality and Accreditation in Health Care and Social Welfare. Since 2019, she is dean of Faculty Health Sciences at Libertas International University.